This doctrine was promulgated by the papers in such a manner, that it finally became the universal belief throughout the country; and when I left the city of Mexico, the greatest crime that one party could accuse the other of, was that of their wish or intention to make peace with the United States."

Here we have stated, by an impartial and wellinformed witness on the spot, the sad and disgraceful fact that the treasonable course of the leading organs and representatives of the Opposition here, both in Congress and out of Congress, has emboldened the Mexicans to believe that they will soon be able "to dictate a peace" to us on their own terms! So fully and so fatally have our federal organs ministered to this Mexican delusion, that it is now confidently "promulgated" through the Mexican press, till it has become "the universal belief" in Mexico.

We subjoin a specimen of these "promulgations" of the Mexican press, as another link in the strong chain of evidence which fastens upon Mexican federalism in this country this terrible charge of rousing up the fierce passions and the vain hopes of our publie enemy to new and yet more murderous efforts against our country. The following extract is from the Diario del Gobierno, a journal published in the city of Mexico, and well known as the organ of the Mexican government:
